

Redefining The Narrative: Voicing The Silenced

SWSC MUN 5.0

Date : 17th ,18th & 19th December, 2026

Ignite, Unite, Empower

Message from Principal

Congratulations!

Model United Nations conferences play a vital role in shaping the leaders of tomorrow. By stepping into the shoes of global diplomats, young minds develop critical life skills in strategic negotiation, empathetic compromise, and consensus-building. At its core, MUN teaches a vital philosophy: that the world's most deep-seated conflicts must be resolved through peaceful collaboration rather than hostile confrontation. This exact spirit of unity and intellectual curiosity deeply defines the student community here at Southwestern State College (SWSC).

It is with immense pride that we launch the Fifth Edition of our conference, Frontier MUN 2026, under the banner theme: "Echoes of Tomorrow: Decoding Conflict, Crisis, and Global Frameworks."

This year's theme challenges our delegates to look ahead at the cascading crises threatening our global networks from climate migration and economic protectionism to public health blackouts and digital warfare. Most importantly, it serves as a powerful platform to elevate the voices of communities historically marginalized or silenced in mainstream global discourse. By analyzing resource scarcity and institutional justice through this inclusive lens, our delegates will cultivate a deeper sense of global empathy, cross-cultural understanding, and actionable social change.

Watching our students embrace the art of diplomacy with such passion fills our institution with incredible pride. We are certain that this conference marks the beginning of an unforgettable journey packed with transformative learning and significant personal accomplishments.

I eagerly anticipate welcoming you all to the Fifth Edition of SWSC MUN. Together, let us inspire, innovate, and shape a brighter, more harmonious future.

Cheers!

Dr. Rajendra KC

Message from Academic Coordinator- SWSC & Vice-Chairperson - SWARC

Namaste and warm greetings,

Excitement is building across our campus as Southwestern State College (SWSC) proudly prepares to unveil the Fifth Edition of SWSC MUN 5.0. As an intensive educational simulation, Model United Nations serves as an unmatched platform for students to immerse themselves in international relations. Through this exercise, delegates refine lifelong competencies in public speaking, critical research, strategic negotiation, and analytical thinking.

At SWSC, we are deeply committed to equipping the next generation with the tools and knowledge required to confront the dense, multifaceted challenges of the 21st century. We believe that structured dialogue, open discussion, and rigorous deliberation are the only sustainable paths forward. This conference provides the ultimate venue for students to actively engage with pressing global issues, unlock their leadership potential, and cultivate meaningful cross-cultural understanding.

In an era defined by information overload and deeply polarized perspectives, the narratives we choose to believe shape the future actions we take. As we launch Frontier MUN 2026 under the theme “Echoes of Tomorrow: Decoding Conflict, Crisis, and Global Frameworks,” we recognize how fragile our global systems have become. From supply chain breakdowns to climate-induced displacements, the crises we face require us to dismantle biased narratives and architect a more impartial, secure, and just global structure.

We challenge all participating delegates to step into their diplomatic roles with courage, sharp empathy, and an unwavering commitment to truth. By working together over these three days, we can bridge deep geopolitical divides, elevate historically silenced perspectives, and rewrite the story of our world for generations to come.

Let the deliberations begin!

Message from Mentor

Namaste,

As the MUN Mentor of Southwestern State College, watching our student body breathe life into the Fifth Edition of SWSC MUN 5.0 is an incredibly rewarding experience. Model United Nations is far more than a competitive academic exercise; it is an incubator for raw potential. It transforms quiet students into commanding public speakers, tentative researchers into sharp analytical strategists, and passionate individuals into cooperative global citizens.

Our theme for Frontier MUN 2026, “Echoes of Tomorrow: Decoding Conflict, Crisis, and Global Frameworks,” demands a higher level of intellectual maturity than ever before. True diplomacy is not about winning an argument or dominating a committee room. It is about the subtle, difficult art of active listening, stepping into the shoes of your historical rivals, and forging a shared path forward when compromise feels completely impossible.

The global crises you will debate over the next three days whether navigating resource scarcity, managing climate-driven migration, or outmaneuvering cyber warfare are the exact systemic challenges your generation will inherit.

My challenge to you as your mentor is simple: do not be afraid to fail, to pivot, or to rewrite your strategies on the floor. True leadership is forged in the moments when a crisis hits and you must rely on your intellect, teamwork, and moral courage to solve it. Approach this conference not just to vie for awards, but to stretch the boundaries of your mind, build unbreakable bonds with your peers, and discover the true power of your voice.

You have done the research, the stage is set, and the world is waiting to hear your perspective. Believe in your preparation, trust your diplomatic instincts, and let your brilliance lead the way.

Go forth with confidence and empathy!

Dr Shipra Jha

Welcome message from Secretary General

Dear Delegates, Visionaries, and Change-Makers,

Welcome to the ultimate arena of competitive diplomacy. It is our distinct privilege to invite you to the Fifth Edition of SWSC MUN: Frontier MUN 2026. While textbooks teach you the past, this 3-day conference challenges you to decode the future in real time under our banner theme: “Echoes of Tomorrow: Decoding Conflict, Crisis, and Global Frameworks.”

Traditional, slow-paced debates are a thing of the past. At Frontier MUN, your policies will be pushed to the absolute limit by sudden, real-time crisis updates. You might begin your morning debating environmental goals and spend your afternoon fighting off a global cyber-attack or a transboundary public health emergency. We are not looking for simple speeches; we are hunting for tactical problem-solvers, bold negotiators, and courageous leaders who can protect communities and stabilize global economies under intense pressure.

The gavels are ready, the committees are set, and the crisis room is watching. Your journey starts right here at Southwestern State College, Basundhara, Kathmandu.

Bring your sharpest research, your fiercest determination, and your unwavering diplomacy. Secure your seat at the frontlines of international diplomacy today!

Let’s make history.

In solidarity,

So, let’s start here, at Southwestern State College, Basundhara, Kathmandu.

Sincerely,

Shreeyash Shrestha

UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Agenda: Focusing on supply chain disruptions, resource hoarding, and safe commodity transit corridors.

In the UNGA, you will look at a major logistical nightmare: how a sudden crisis anywhere in the world causes a domino effect that collapses global trade. When geopolitical fights or natural disasters block critical shipping routes, countries often become selfish they start hoarding resources, raising prices, and blocking trade. Your job over these 3 days is to stop this panic, dismantle protectionist laws, and create "Safe Passage Corridors" to guarantee that everyday goods like food, fuel, and raw supplies flow freely to areas in distress without getting stuck behind political arguments.

UNITED NATIONS ENVIRONMENT PROGRAMME

Agenda: Impact of global distress on the free flow and availability of commodities in the areas of distress

In this committee, you will look at how melting glaciers in the mountains cause terrible floods that wash away entire villages. When people lose their homes to these natural disasters, they are forced to move to other countries, but international laws do not protect them yet. Your job over these 3 days is to work with other countries to create fair rules to protect these “climate migrants” and set up emergency funds to rebuild broken towns.

UNITED NATIONS HUMAN RIGHTS COUNCIL

Agenda: Focusing on international law, state sovereignty, and Nepal's TRC framework

This advanced university committee looks at a major puzzle: When a country suffers through a war, how does it finally bring peace and justice to its people? Using the real-life example of Nepal's history, you will debate how to punish past lawbreakers and help victims without causing the new government to collapse. You will spend 3 days deciding exactly when international courts are allowed to step in and when a country should be left to handle its own problems.

WORLD HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Agenda: Focusing on waterborne outbreaks, health logistics, and medical cyber-attacks

In the WHO, you will try to stop a sudden and dangerous outbreak of diseases like cholera after a massive flood hits a region. To make things harder, a major cyberattack will suddenly hack hospital computers, locking up medical records and turning off vaccine refrigerators. You will have to work fast under pressure to stop rumors online, open blocked borders, and make sure life-saving medicines get to sick patients in time.

JOINT CRISIS COMMITTEE

Agenda: Focusing on digital warfare, online scams, and AI misinformation

The JCC is a super-fast, exciting game where you do not just give long speeches you react to dangerous crises happening in real time! You will jump into the digital dark web to fight off high-tech hackers, online money scams, and fake news made by Artificial Intelligence (AI) that is causing public panic. Every choice you make changes the story instantly, and you must protect national security before the entire digital network crashes.

ECONOMIC AND FINANCIAL AFFAIRS COUNCIL

Agenda: Focusing on remittance dependency and structural brain drain

In ECOFIN, you will fix a broken global economy where prices are going up, trade routes are blocked, and countries are selfishly hoarding resources. Looking closely at countries like Nepal, you will figure out how to stop the "brain drain" which happens when all the smart, young citizens leave the country to find jobs abroad. You will spend 3 days building smart trade plans and creating new local jobs so people can find success right at home.

INTERNATIONAL PRESS

CATEGORIES: JOURNALISM, CARICATURISM & PHOTOGRAPHY

In the International Press, you will act as professional journalists, photographers, and editors embedded across the conference. Instead of making standard speeches, you will attend committee sessions, interview delegates, and write breaking news stories under tight deadline pressures. Your job over these 3 days is to hunt for backroom secrets, create political cartoons, and take photos to publish the daily Frontier Chronicle, keeping the entire conference informed and entertained.
